

LACK OF POWER CAUSES A FAMINE

Prominent Paper Manufacturer Says It Is Sure To Come Very Soon Now.

BUT LITTLE WATER IN THE RIVERS

R. A. Edmonds Talks On Situation That Exists In Northern Wisconsin—Pulp Mills Only Running Part Of The Time Now.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Appleton, Wis., Nov. 23.—R. A. Edmonds, chairman of the republican state central committee, who is interested in a number of pulp and paper mills in Wisconsin, commenting on the report of the imminent paper famine in this country, said: "Yes, there is every possibility of a famine in news paper in this country and it will be no surprise to me if January 1, next, sees a condition in the United States the like of which has never before been experienced here. We have no right to expect much rain between now and next spring and without it there is an almost absolute certainty that the water power streams of the country will be practically dry by the first of the year. "Wood pulp cannot be made without water power, except at prohibitive prices. Steam power for horse power is about three times as costly as water power. Wood pulp is now selling at about $20 per ton and if it were made by steam power the price would be about $100 per ton. If wood pulp jumped to $100 per ton, print paper would jump to at least 10 and possibly 12 cents per pound, or about five times its present price. "But the insurmountable obstacle in the situation is not so much the increased price of wood pulp, but rather the fact that pulp mills as a rule are not equipped with auxiliary steam plants and for that reason cannot grind wood unless there is water power. "True enough, the mills could be equipped with steam power, but that is an operation that cannot be accomplished in a day, but on the contrary takes weeks, and even months, in the meantime the country would be in the throes of a serious paper famine. In my judgment, nothing but copious rains, which seems almost an impossibility, can prevent a famine in newspaper stock. "Our mills on the Wisconsin river are running at only about half capacity and only half enough wood pulp is being made to keep our print mills in operation. The same condition holds true in the Fox river valley. There is every reason in the world for the gravest apprehension."

ROCKEFELLER DENIES HE FORMED A TRUST

Says He Did Not Conceive the Immense Combination Himself—Credit Belongs to Others. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Nov. 23.—John D. Rockefeller was again called to the witness stand when the Standard Oil hearing was resumed today. Rockefeller testified that he did not conceive of the plan for the formation of the original Standard Oil Trust in 1882. "I'm sorry to say that I didn't," said Rockefeller, "I cannot claim any credit for that. Plagier and S. C. T. Dodd conceived it."

RICHARD CROKER. New York, Nov. 23.—All Tammany awaited the arrival of its former leader, Richard Croker, from Ireland. Mr. Croker had requested that all demonstrations in his honor be abandoned and that he be allowed to enter his former home quietly. The leaders in the "Croker Old Guard" had planned to charter a tugboat and go down to bay to meet him. They were endeavoring to obtain permission to take him from the steamship at quarantine and bring him ashore as their private guest. The nature of these plans reached Mr. Croker and he called back at once, forbidding any demonstration either on the pier or on the steamship. He declared that he desired to land quietly and to go direct to the Democratic club where he will occupy his old quarters during his stay in this city. Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany hall, who was politically associated with Mr. Croker for many years, was the only old friend to greet him, aside from his son, Richard Croker, Jr., when the Lusitania steamed into the lower bay. Unable to carry out their plans to meet their former leader as soon as he arrived in the harbor, the leaders of the old guard immediately turned their attention to the Democratic club. Cleaners, decorators and furnishers were summoned by the score. The club underwent an overhauling from cellar to roof.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN MURDER TRIAL

Russian Jewess to Be Tried for Murder of Doctor Who Is Accused of Betrayal. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Nov. 23.—Considerable public interest is manifested in the case of Sarah Koton which was called for trial today in the criminal branch of the supreme court. The young woman, a Russian Jewess who has been in America but a few years, is charged with having murdered Dr. M. W. Auspitz last spring. The victim was a man of family and a physician of high standing in his profession. Dr. Auspitz maintained a private sanitarium and Sarah Koton was employed by him as a nurse. According to the young woman who was wrangled by the physician and then cast out. When an effort to obtain justice in the courts failed her she determined to wreak personal vengeance upon her alleged betrayer. On the night of the tragedy she telephoned to Dr. Auspitz at his home in East Thirty-ninth street. In the guise of a patient she summoned the physician to make a professional call at an apartment house in West 12th street. When the physician arrived at the house the young woman heavily veiled, met him in the vestibule and without a word shot and killed him instantly. After the killing Miss Koton collapsed and for days her life was despaired of. Because of her condition she was removed from the Tombs to the city hospital on Blackwell's island. There, on September 20 last, she gave birth to a child. The circumstances surrounding the case aroused much public sympathy in behalf of the unfortunate and feeble-minded young woman. This sympathy was increased when it became known that charges similar to those made by the young Jewess had previously been preferred against Dr. Auspitz by another woman who had been in his employ. Through the efforts of charitably disposed persons able counsel has been engaged to conduct the defense of Miss Koton.

FIRE BUG AT WORK AT CUT-OFF CITY

Large Barn Filled with Hay Burns in Mysterious Manner Saturday Night at Evansville. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Evansville, Wis., Nov. 23.—Fire supposed to be of incendiary origin totally destroyed a large barn worth eight hundred dollars and a hundred tons of hay on the farm owned by the D. E. Stevens estate, a half mile east of the city Saturday night. A large straw stack standing near the structure was also destroyed, but some livestock in an adjoining shed was saved. Persons in the vicinity about the time the flames were discovered saw a man running away from the building, but can give no description of him. The barn was filled with hay which looked like spilled shot. No one had been near the structure with a lantern and the only theory is that of incendiarianism.

A FIRST MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

ROCK COUNTY FAIR ASSOCIATION MEET THIS EVENING. ARE TO DISCUSS BUSINESS. Gathering Will Be Held at the Myers Hotel at Seven-Thirty—Important Business to Be Discussed.

When the talk of holding a county fair in Janesville came up a year ago this fall, a committee of business men was named to take the matter up for serious consideration. C. S. Putnam was named chairman and A. E. Bingham as secretary. The time not being ripe for the matter it was allowed to go by default until this year when active work in raising the funds was begun. Thus far on a preliminary canvass some seventy shares of fifty dollars each have been subscribed and the sum needed, $10,000, to successful launch the project does not seem so far away. C. S. Putnam has issued a call for a meeting of the stockholders to be held at the Myers Hotel this evening at seven thirty to discuss matters of importance connected with the affair.

ASK FOR DONATIONS FOR THANKSGIVING

Associated Charities Will Make up and Send Out Baskets on Next Thursday. There are probably twenty or thirty families in this city who are wondering where their Thanksgiving dinner is coming from. Some of them are out of work, others are getting wages that will only procure for them the bare necessities of life. These people will not ask charity, but if a basket well filled with Thanksgiving fixings comes to them with the well wishes of a friend they too will give thanks. If it does not come they will eat what they have and not complain, but it will be hard to explain to the little ones what Thanksgiving day is. The ladies of the Associated Charities are asking for donations. You can give a basket, which will cost $1.50 so much the better. If you cannot give that, send potatoes, apples, celery, in fact anything that will help make up a basket. The ladies will be at Helmsstreet's drugstore Wednesday morning to make up baskets and have faith that there will be generous donations.

STRUCK ON HEAD WITH IRON BUCKET

John Lynch Sustained Ugly Scalp Wound in Fight With Man Named Bumgardner at Sugar Factory. In an encounter which took place at the sugar factory just as the night shift was going off duty, early this morning, John Lynch was struck by an iron bucket just above the right temple and a gash in the scalp fully 2 1/2 inches long inflicted. The flesh was opened up to the bone and Dr. C. F. Woods who dressed the wound was of the opinion that the same impact, an inch or two lower down on the head, would have surely killed the man. An individual named Bumgardner is alleged to have swung the bucket. Lynch threatened to swear out a warrant for his arrest but had not done so at two o'clock this afternoon.

REYNOLDS GOES TO PRISON FOR A YEAR

Edgerton Man Implicated in Burglaring of Wm. Barrett's Saloon Entered Plea of Guilty. Edward Reynolds of Edgerton, who was arrested some days ago on the charge of being implicated in the burglarizing of William Barrett's saloon in the Tobacco City, on the night of October 27, amended his plea of "not guilty" to "guilty" in municipal court this morning and was sentenced to spend one year in the state's prison at Waupun. The fact that the young man's undoing was largely due to drink and bad company and that he had not theretofore manifested any symptoms of criminal tendencies, and the further fact that he had decided to save the State the expense of a trial, District Attorney J. L. Fisher recommended that the minimum sentence be imposed. Reynolds' mother and sister, William Barrett, the latter's bartender, Willard Loun, Mr. and Mrs. William Towers, and Mrs. Marshall Wiley, were among the Edgerton people in the courtroom. About $5 in money was taken from the bar-room. Reynolds is 31 years of age. Sheriff Fisher expected to take him to Waupun this noon.

TRINITY CHURCH RECTOR TALKS
ON LIVING RIGHT.

IN THE YEAR TO COME

No Regrets Should Be Felt for What Is Past and
Is Gone.

Yesterday morning at the Trinity church Rev. Willmann preached a sermon exhorting his hearers through the coming year of the church to so live that when the next year came around they would not have so many things to look back on as having been left undone. The text of the sermon was taken from the ninth chapter of the Gospel of St. John, verse 4: "I must work the work of him that sent me, while it is day;
the night cometh when no man can work."

"We have come, said Rev. Willmann, to the end of the longest season of the church's year. We have assembled to think of the possibilities of the future. We have learned that we have not reached as near to our ideal as we thought we would in the beginning of the year and perhaps have even saved up the things of the world more than ever, as we think of the time and opportunities which we have had and have wasted."

Have we sought after righteousness?
Have we sought after God? Have we always remembered that our days are numbered and that we know not when we may be called to rest and to answer for that which we have not done. This is the time when we should think of these things.

During the year we have learned various lessons at the different sessions and church days. At Christmas we were told of the birth of Christ and of the Holy Virgin, we have been taught on the days of Christened and the Epiphany. In Lent we learned of the duty and blessedness of repentance and of God standing for the sake of the world. At Easter we rejoiced over the victory of Christ over Sin and Death. On Ascension Day we saw what God had done that we might be prepared for the Holy Ghost.
On Trinity Sunday and the Sundays following we were taught the relation of ourselves to the Kingdom of Heaven and of our duties to God and to our neighbors.

In considering these things we wonder, What is the End Toward Which we are Working? In this we must take the words of the apostle, "Man is not a very simple creature. In him are the physical and spiritual forces united. He is a creature which is unlike the lower animals in that he has a brain and a soul and a freedom of will with an almost endless variety of desires and impulses."

What is the end toward which the human being is working and for which it was created? The physical side of man is what is most seen: his hungering, and thirsting and his labor to fulfill these wants of the flesh. These take most of his time to provide for.
Take a great city for example. There is there in every street that is taken there is care written on the wheels of everyone that you pass and the wheels of Trade are moving to and fro, just to provide for these physical wants of man. All this is done for the adornment of the outward or physical frame.

Is this the highest end which man strives to attain? No, we must look further into his motives to discover what the real purpose for which man was made. In our searching we will find that in his work to satisfy his physical needs, he manifests a higher state of development and intelligence than is shown in animal existence.
He exhibits a mental and moral power in bringing about the things to provide food and clothing for himself and of the land and the waters and is ever seeking after the cause of some other mysterious thing. He is always seeking an ideal for Truth and of living.

While we find that in his make-up man has his peculiar desires and impulses for which there seems to be no particular reason, yet we find that there are parts in him which are unchangeable and steadfast. Man has faith in doing his work and faith in believing that he will be rewarded for his labors. He also has the feeling that this world is not his only home, which exists and that beyond this sphere there is another more beautiful sphere than this of the world and to which he will in time arrive, the world of the soul, or Heaven.

We can know that the end for which Man was created was not for the mere answering of physical desires and impulses although the greater part of his time he spends in that manner, but that the goal which he is striving to reach is a spiritual one.

In this age we must prepare for this. Now can we do it? By coming to God for help, even though we may be in the hands of Satan. Satan was held by the Philistines, he can overcome the Evil One. God has provided, through the church and through the sacrifice of His Son, the way to eternal life. Through his beliefs and mishletes, he uses human beings to bring us to the eternal life. Here are the means and the strength provided for us to attain to this life. When restored, our life must be a continual progress toward the eternal life. We find the strength to press forward in the church and in the spiritual life.
I entreat you, that in this last week of the church's year to think of these things in order that you may be prepared for the end when it comes to this year. Let us not waste our opportunities to repent and so much work undone that should have been done. Let us go forward for Him.

CLOSED WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT
WITH "THE DEVIL" DRAMA

Grace Hayward and Her Excellent Company Played to Packed House Saturday Evening.

Moham's sensational drama, "The Devil," was presented at a packed house at the Myers Theatre Saturday evening by Grace Hayward and her excellent company. The play presents the life of "Fame" in the red lights and in the garb of an everyday citizen of the world. It is merely a new setting of an old theme and one sitting is quite sufficient—nobody goes to see it a second time. The piece was well presented by a stock company which had already proven itself highly capable and adequate in a series of new and standard plays.

NEW LIFE
Found in Change to Right Food.

After one suffers from acid dyspepsia, sour stomach, for months and then finds the remedy is in getting the right kind of food, is something to speak out about.

A N. Y. lady and her young son had such an experience and she wants others to know how to get relief. She writes:

"For about fifteen months my little boy and myself had suffered with sour stomach. We were unable to retain much of anything we ate.

"After suffering in this way for so long I decided to consult a specialist in stomach diseases. Instead of prescribing drugs, he put us both on

ORIENTALS ARRIVE

Tang Shao Yi and Retinues
Land at San Francisco.

BRING GRATITUDE OF CHINA

America's Remittance of Boxer Debt Is Occasion of Embassy—News of the Death of the Empress Dowager Causes Perturbation.

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Tang Shao Yi, one of the leading men of China, accompanied by Prince Tan Pu, a member of the royal family, landed here Sunday from the steamer Mongolia. He comes to express to the United States government the gratitude of his country for the remittance of the Boxer outbreak debt, which is nearly $14,000,000.

In his honor the dragon flag flew from the masts of a score of vessels in the bay, guns mounted on the harbor front boomed out a salute and thousands of his countrymen, silk-robed or silk-hatted, thronged the docks where his escort landed.

Learns of Tai An's Death.

Not until the Mongolia dropped anchor in the harbor did Tang Shao Yi and his staff learn that the dowager empress of China was dead. In Honolulu the cable brought news of the emperor's death, but said nothing about the dangerous illness that threatened the end of the dowager empress' remarkable career. It was only when Hsu Ying Chou, the consul general at San Francisco, boarded the steamer with a score of cablegrams from the far east, that the distinguished visitor was acquainted with the full extent of the changes that had occurred since his departure. Even the habitual Oriental reserve did not suffice to conceal his perturbation, and while dignitaries of the state and government awaited his attention, he scanned messages after messages, apparently unconscious of their presence.

In accordance with the edict of mourning, his entire party will remain practically sequestered during its stay of three days in this city and the local Chinese colony's arrangements for costly banquets and other forms of entertainment have been canceled.

Tang Shao Yi, with the 50 members of his retinue, will go direct to Washington, where he will remain until after the inauguration of President-elect William H. Taft.

Royal Prince in Party.

Prince Tan Pu is a youth of 21, a member of the royal family, a cousin of the late emperor and himself the most blue-blooded representative of his race who has ever set foot on foreign soil. While he bears the title of first secretary to the embassy, his position is merely honorary, and his journey abroad, apart from its educational purpose, is intended as an additional recognition of the obligation conveyed in America's remittance of so large a portion of the indemnity awarded for damages sustained during the Boxer outbreak.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER DEAD.

Pathetic Double Tragedy Is Revealed
In New York.

New York, Nov. 23.—Lying side by side on the floor of their apartment in the Bronx, the bodies of Charles A. Walters, an aged veteran of the civil war, and his daughter, Emma, 40 years old, were found Sunday. The room was filled with gas and all the coals of a gas stove were turned on so that it is certain either the father or daughter committed suicide and possibly both were the victims of self-destruction.

It is the theory of the coroner that Miss Walters died first and that her death was due to heart disease. Later, the coroner thinks, the father entered and upon beholding the body of his daughter, he was overcome with grief and committed suicide, turning on the gas and then lying down to await death beside the body of his daughter.

BANK ROBBERS GET $5,500.

Sedalia, Mo., Nov. 23.—The bank of Sweet Springs, at Sweet Springs, Boone county, Missouri, was robbed of $5,500 in currency at three o'clock Sunday morning by professional cracksmen who blew open the vault with dynamite. The bank building was wrecked. Three men supposed to be the robbers were seen going east about noon after the noise of the explosion aroused the town.

Famous Summer Hotel Burned.

Dublin, N. H., Nov. 23.—A fire Sunday night swept part of the town of Dublin, situated high up on the north side of Old Monadnock mountain, and destroyed the Leffingwell house, one of the most famous summer hostels in the state, the hotel annex, the stable and the Unitarian parsonage, occupied by Dr. J. L. Soward. The rest of the town was saved with difficulty.

Two Killed by Automobile.

Onesling, N. Y., Nov. 23.—Almost in front of the gate leading to the estate of William Rockefeller, the bodies of William Arthur Purdy and William Kramer, both of Tarrytown, were found Sunday. The bodies were lying some distance apart and were terribly mutilated. It is believed that the men were struck by an automobile and killed.

NO LONGER INFANTS

Industries Have Outgrown the Need of Protection.

VIEWS OF ANDREW CARNEGIE

Tariff on Manufactures Should Be Reduced or Abolished, He Says, But Luxuries of the Rich Should Be Taxed for Revenue.

New York, Nov. 23.—America's infant industries have outgrown the need of a protective tariff, says Andrew Carnegie in an article on the tariff that will appear in the December number of the Century Magazine. He asserts that the tariff on manufactures should be greatly reduced, but that the luxuries of the rich should be taxed to provide needed revenue.

Mr. Carnegie's article is entitled "My Experience with and Views Upon the Tariff." He first reviews the tariff movements down to the present Dingley law, giving a number of anecdotes in which he figured with the prominent tariff leaders of the various periods.

Viewed from New Standpoint.

He adds: "Much water has run under the bridges since then. Many changes have occurred and hence many changes can be judiciously made in the tariff. There is no doubt about this; but, on the other hand, I have been led to the conclusion that conditions have changed so greatly in the interval that the tariff should now be viewed from a new standpoint." The writer assumes that a decided majority of our voters are agreed:

"First, that it is advisable for new countries to encourage capital by protective duties, when seen to be necessary to develop new industries.

"Second, that after full and exhaustive trials, if success be not finally attained, such protection should cease, except as noted hereunder.

"Third, that should the experiment succeed, protection becomes unnecessary, and should steadily but gradually be abolished, provided that the home supply of any article absolutely necessary for the national safety shall not thereby be endangered."

Infant Industries No Longer.

Further on Mr. Carnegie says:

"We have already become by far the greatest of all manufacturing nations. Our infant industries of the past have reached maturity and, speaking generally, are now quite able to protect themselves. The pulling infant in the nurse's arms that congress in 1871 nursed so tenderly will appear next year before its guardian as the stalwart champion who has conquered in many fields, thus proving himself worthy of the protection bestowed upon him in his youth, and fully vindicating the protective policy pursued. "While the tariff as a whole even today has ceased to be primarily beneficial as a measure of protection, it has become of vast importance from the standpoint of revenues and it is to this feature I bespeak the special attention of readers of all parties, for duties upon imports, not for protection but for needed revenue, should not become a party question. Reasonable men of all parties may be expected to approve this plan of obtaining revenue."

Exempts Poor, Taxes Rich.

After giving tables showing that the bulk of tariff duties are collected on luxuries used by the rich, Mr. Carnegie says: "Thus does the American tariff, in happy contrast to others, almost exempt the poor and heavily tax the rich, just as it should, for it is they who have the ability to pay as required by the highest economic authority."

Mr. Carnegie says of future tariff legislation:

"The next congress dealing with the tariff will probably be inclined at first to reduce duties all around and perhaps to abolish some, but its first care should be to maintain present duties, and even in some cases to increase them, upon all articles used almost exclusively by the rich, and this not for protection, but for revenue, not drawn from the workers, but from the rich. That is the first and prime duty of congress. We should not forget that government expenditures have increased enormously in recent years and that additional revenue is required. "Its second duty is to reduce duties greatly upon manufactured articles and to abolish entirely those no longer needed."

King Gustave at Paris.

Paris, Nov. 23.—King Gustave and the queen of Sweden, who spent last week with King Edward at Windsor, arrived here Sunday on their first state visit. They were welcomed at the "Sovereigns" station in the Bois de Boulogne by President Fallieres, Premier Clemenceau and the other members of the cabinet.

Austrians Repulse Servians.

Paris, Nov. 23.—A special dispatch from Vienna says that a band of Servians, while crossing the Bosnian frontier near Zvornik, was repulsed by Austrian troops. The Servians lost 17 men killed and the Austrians three killed.

PRESIDENT'S SON SORTS WOOL.

A considerable fuss has been made over the fact that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has started to learn the carpet-making business.

Theodore is just a common factory hand, earning $5 a week as a wool sorter. He must begin at 7 o'clock in the morning and work until 6:15 in the evening, with forty-five minutes for luncheon.

In a manly interview the young man said:

"I came here to work and to learn the manufacture of carpets and rugs. I am merely an employee, and I don't want or ask any special favors or notice."

Nevertheless the president's son must be handicapped and bothered by having publicity thrust upon him. The newspapers have snapshot pictures of him as he goes to his work, pictures of the factory and of his boarding house, and all that sort of thing.

Why? Surely the job is honorable, and the young man is displaying the common qualities of an American citizen. He is beginning at the bottom, no other boys do. Simply because his father happens to be president is no reason why unworldly sentiment should be written about him.

The young fellow is modest and willing and ought to be given his fair chance.

Moreover— This exploiting of Theodore's honest calling contains the hint of an apparently growing tendency to look down on the man who earns his substance by manual labor. There are some persons who seem to regard as a sort of freak the young man who voluntarily seeks to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. They elevate their eyebrows at the spectacle of the president's son "stooping to engage as a sorter of wools."

The tendency of such criticism is un-American and deserves stinging rebuke. Let it be remembered that in this free country THE SCARF, ON THE REAMING HANDS OF THE HONEST LABORERS ARE SCARS AN HONORABLE AS THOSE RECEIVED IN BATTLE. The uniform of the soldier garments of labor is as patriotic as the uniform of military trappings.

Every one who amounts to anything in this country works at something.

In Europe they may call a man who does no work a "gentleman." In this country we call him a tramp.

And So They Were Married.

The Mistress—And you would love me if I lost all my money?
The Count (earnestly)—Dearest! In that case what else would there be for me to love?
"But are you sure you love me quite apart from my money?"
(More earnestly)—"More than that, I even love your money apart from you."

"Quite right, darling. I want you always to separate me and my money in your thoughts."
(Most earnestly)—"In thought and in deed, it shall be my lifelong endeavor to separate you and your money."—Southwestern Book.

Random Shots.

I shot an arrow into the air, it fell in the distance. I know not where, till a neighbor said that it killed his cat, and I had to pay him six and a half ($6.50). I bought some poison to stay some rats and a neighbor swore it killed his cats; and, rather than argue across the fence, I paid him four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50). One night I set sailing a toy balloon, and hoped it would soar till it reached the moon; but the candle fell out and it burned a straw, and I said I must settle or go to law. And that is the way with the random shot; it never hits in the proper spot and the joke you spring, that you think so smart, may have a wound in some fellow's heart.—Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Clinton, Nov. 23.—Rev. Clyde McGee announced to his congregation Sunday that he had declined to accept the call to become the pastor of the First Congregational church in Rockford. Mr. McGee is a mighty man of God, a man to whom a call to a high place and the flogging of the gulf has no weight against what he sees in his duty.

Y. M. C. A. Program.

The advance sale of reserved seats to the Ladies' Chicago Orchestra is the largest ever had here so far in advance of the date. The Y. M. C. A. promises to be the most helpful, most entertaining, most interesting season in the history of that good organization in this place. The course of entertainment promises to be very enjoyable indeed. A stereoscopic lecture by Rev. Donald of Janesville on his trip to Japan; one by State Secy Anderson on his trip to Norway; concert by Janesville Orchestra, which delighted all so thoroughly last winter; a concert by Hollet parties under the management of that ever popular good fellow, Chas. Gault, and a home talent concert. Certainly a good deal for the price—12½ cents each. Prof. Birch, physical director of Janesville Y. M. C. A., has been engaged to organize and conduct a class here. Every man and boy should take a membership ticket or two.

An Egg Famine.

Clinton has the poverty of having an egg famine. No eggs have been on the market for love or money for several days, and those who are trying to get up elaborate Thanksgiving dinners find it a difficult proposition.

Still Alive.

Little Ester Henton, three-year-old daughter of Rev. Henton, who fell from a porch and fractured her skull Thursday afternoon, is still hovering between life and death.

Peter Louis Larson.

The funeral of Peter Louis Larson was held Sunday at 2:30 p. m., from the Congregational church, Rev. Clyde McGee officiating.

W. W. Choover spent several days last week in Fulton attending directors' meeting of Mystic Workers of the World.

Mr. Kinser of Beloit, a deputy Woodman of the World, is here endeavoring to organize a camp of that order.

Curtis Baldwin spent Sunday in Milton.

Mrs. T. Downing has sold her blacksmith shop and wagon shop adjoining to Christensen Bros. of Racine who will move their families here at once and operate the two places together.

E. P. Warner returned Friday from Baltimore.

Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and Mrs. Minnie Mayberry entertained a large company to six o'clock tea Thursday evening.

The ladies of the Baptist church held a home bakery and apron sale Saturday in the Gates room on Main street.

A good many stockholders are planning to go to Chicago to the meeting of the Creamery Supply company.

Mrs. Fred Weaver spent Thursday in Beloit.

Mrs. Geo. W. Earle spent Thursday in Shepley visiting friends.

J. C. Barker is very ill afflicted with the same trouble he had last winter from which attack he never fully regained his strength and his many friends are alarmed as to the result of the present attack.

Master Roger Hamilton, son of J. A. Hamilton, remains quite ill.

The high school scholars had a very enjoyable party and dance at Drake's hall Friday evening. Prof. Rocco and wife and the teachers acted as chaperons.

James Boldrick has been visiting to Chicago and Milwaukee the last week on business.

Frank Mills of Syracuse, N. Y., a nephew of Mrs. W. P. Wolcott, is visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenz of Janesville came down Sunday to attend the Larson funeral.

Wm. Gates of Milton and Frank Gates of Beloit were here to attend the funeral of Wm. Jones.

Mrs. P. M. Harris and children will spend Thanksgiving with her sister in Evanston.

E. J. Pratt and family will spend Thanksgiving with his folks at Freeport, Ill.
Ralph Miner bought several hundred head of sheep at St. Paul last week.

HIS EYES CROSSED ON THE BOGUS BILL

Janesville People Looking For Bogus Five Dollar Silver Certificate—
Can Detect Them Easily.

While thus far none of the bogus five dollar silver certificates have been presented at the local banks they may arrive and the word of warning sent out by Chief Wilkie of the secret service department at Washington may prevent their coming into use in Janesville. Mr. Wilkie says that the eyes of the Indian are crossed and can be easily detected. He declares the counterfeit is a photo-mechanical production printed on one piece of heavy bond paper, instead of being engraved. The blue seal closely approximates the genuine in color, but is badly printed, being coarse and rough, with many broken lines. The back of the note is a deceptive piece of work, and except for being lighter in color appears much like the genuine. There appears to have been no attempt to imitate the distributed silk fiber.

The bogus certificate first made its appearance in Providence. The counterfeit note purports to be one of those authorized by the act of Aug. 4, 1886, series of 1893, check letter D, face plate, No. 2, back plate No. 666, with a portrait of Cheyenne.

A new counterfeit $5 United States note also has been discovered. It purports to be one authorized by the act of March 3, 1863, series of 1907, with a portrait of Jackson, check letter D, No. A5,217,176. This spurious production is a straight photograph with the seal and demountable design on the face of the note touched up with color and the back painted a muddy green. The note is by no means cleverly disguised and should not deceive persons familiar with money.

AEROPLANE FASHIONS.

This is no Artie explorer or Eskimo, but only an inoffensive aviator. A London outfitter who has specialized in motor clothes has designed a rather unique aviator's costume.

"The aviator should wear a gabardine coat with a thick fleecy lining to keep out the cold. Over that he might have a loose and thick overcoat, buttoning very high around the neck. For lining opossum fur would be the ideal thing, and the gloves might also be lined with the same fur.

"For leg covering a pair of breeches of the same material as the coat; and these to keep out the cold should be tightly laced below the knees. Thick stockings with fur-lined gaiters over them should keep the wearer's feet warm.

"For head covering the cap supplied to Artie, expeditions would suit the aviator, it is a knitted woolly cap covered with cloth, with our flaps and flaps which could be pulled out at will on either side of the face to protect it against the wind."

of well lighted show windows, on the public, is surprising. They judge the interior of the store by them. Just as a dark show window attracts no attention, a well lighted one will make many a sale after your doors are locked and business suspended for the day. ADVERTISING A COMMODITY

J. H. McCormick of the Harrison

Times addressed the Fruit Growers' association of California, the other day,

on the necessity of advertising oranges. He said among other good things:

"Now, if I can add in dispersing doubts which may be entertained by any of the members of this association

as to the efficiency of advertising for promoting its business—enlarging it where it is already established, extending it into new regions,

I will be doing about the greatest service it is in my power to render

you. To start with, you must recognize advertising as a commodity.

"It is imperatively necessary that you get this truth fixed firmly in your minds before you can hope to give it that broad consideration which its importance demands. Get away at once and forever from the idea that it is an expense. It is not an expense;

it is a commodity; just as necessary

a commodity in the selling of oranges,

as business is conducted today, as are the oranges themselves. I do not mean by this assertion that you cannot go on selling oranges forever

without any advertising; but if I understand aright, one of the purposes of this convention is to see if means can be devised which will increase the consumption of oranges and thereby increase the sales of the product.

The Value of the Newspaper

"Reading the newspaper is an immately a part of our everyday life as sleeping and eating. It is a rare person who does not at least glance over his daily or weekly paper, and to the great majority of people it is the only avenue open to their minds accessible to those who have things to sell. The peculiar strength which is all its own is well put by a recent writer in the following words:

"The newspaper carries suggestion

into the family circle at leisure moments in parlor or library, where no

only a certain number of clerks to wait on customers.

Advertising is a commodity pure and simple, as much of a necessity to successful business as a good stock of goods, and the time to advertise is always now. Better to sell goods at a profit, when people want them, than

at a sacrifice sale after the holidays.

BETTER LABOR

During the panic the railroads and other large employers of labor maintained the wage scale which was in force when times were good, but they were only able to do this by cutting down the force and laying off an army of workmen.

The fact is generally recognized,

outside the ranks of organized labor,

that there is a difference in workmen,

so far as efficiency is concerned, and when it becomes necessary to reduce forces, the weeding out process was applied, and undesirable and disloyal workmen were the first to go.

As a result every industry is equipped today with men who possess the ability and ambition to render honest and faithful service. An exchange, in speaking of these conditions, says:

"While the past year of business depression has not resulted in any general reduction in wages it has materially increased the efficiency of labor. If we should measure labor as we measure horsepower, we might say that with the same expenditure

we were obtaining a higher power.

This is one of the notable outcomes of the past year. The 'water' has been squeezed out of labor.

"A prominent western railroad manager says that during the boom we had to employ the 'rag, tag, and bobtail' element, which not only costs

abnormally in itself, but also drags down the average production of the good men. During the depression, he says, employers have been able to get rid of this bad element in labor. Now that prosperity is beginning to show signs of a return, this railroad manager for one—and he probably speaks for a large class—does not want to be forced to take this element back into the ranks of its wage earners.

Having got rid of them in the panic,

he doesn't want to take them on again. He admits that they will be a problem as an unemployed element of the community, but that problem is less dangerous than the one of taking care of them in the ranks of active labor. In other words, he does not want prosperity to grow so fast as to compel the employment of the

'rag, tag, and bobtail' and thus lower the average efficiency of labor."

John D. Rockefeller on the witness stand furnishes a text for a lot of pleaded writers to denounce him as

"the most despised and detested individual in the United States." These pen-penners have no personal grievance, but their sympathies go out to a downtrodden and oppressed people who have been furnished one of the necessities of life at practically a uniform price for 20 years. When Mr.

Rockefeller was looking for rebates,

every man in business was looking for the same thing, and deadhead merchants were liberal railway patrons.

No boom, but simply a gradual and healthy return to prosperity is the report which comes from all parts of the country. Money is plenty in the eastern market, and bonds find ready sale. The railroads are again able to secure funds for needed improvements and the outlook for 1909

is encouraging.

China has sent a representative to this country to thank Uncle Sam and his people for not enforcing the immense indemnity that was demanded

The old saying, "A Whiter's for"

will freeze a dog," may come true quicker than anyone realizes.

WHAT IS ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY?

Alveolar dentistry is just a new name for bridge work—simply a new name for an old method.

No Alveolar dentist attempts to put in teeth unless you have a few remaining teeth upon which to build the bridge work.

When you pay more than $5.00 to have a gold crown put on a tooth, whether it is called an Alveolar crown or by any other name, you pay too much.

I charge $5.00 for gold crowns, and it is sufficient for any dentist to charge—this means for the best work it is possible to do.

Call any time as you go by, and talk the matter over—you will not be obliged to have the work done.

MISS BELLE ALLEN DIED SUNDAY NOON

At the Home of Her Aunt, Mrs. Amelia Jerome—Stricken with Paralysis Two Weeks Ago.

Because of her life of constant and quiet Christian service and a gentle spirit ever intent upon the bright side of things, many will mourn for Miss Belle Marie Allen, who died Sunday noon at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Amelia M. Jerome. There was a friendly and companionable nature and the attachments formed with near friends were particularly warm and deep. She had for many years been a faithful member of the Congregational church and she will be sadly missed by the members of the Laurel band, which organization was the special beneficiary of her interest and help. Miss Allen had not been in her usual health for several months and two weeks ago she was stricken with paralysis. Since that time she had lingered in partial unconsciousness, although at intervals, almost to the last, her mind was clear. Besides Mrs. Jerome, her immediate relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Martha L. Finch of Austin, Ill., and Mrs. Raymond H. Owen of Chicago; a brother, Edward Allen, who resides in West Virginia; an uncle, H. B. Allen of Richmond Center; and a cousin, Mrs. William Rugg, Jr., of this city. ## CELEBRATED SILVER WEDDING SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Soverhill Married Twenty-five Years Last Saturday.

Surrounded by their four daughters, relatives and intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Soverhill celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home on Washington street last Saturday evening. At 6:30 o'clock the guests from this city and the vicinity were greeted with cordial hospitality by the bride and groom of twenty-five summers breaking all formality and making the occasion one long to be remembered.

Many beautiful cut flowers helped to brighten the room while the claudelers and grille were entwined with silver and green. The latter was a fine trailing overgreen which Mr. Soverhill brought on his return from his recent visit to the north woods. A large bouquet of pink roses formed the central decoration of the bride's table at which the bride and groom sat with Mr. John Porter, the oldest brother of the bride, and his wife, Mrs. Minnie Dracy, the eldest sister of the groom; Miss Soverhill, his aunt; and Rev. and Mrs. Laughlin. The rest of the guests were seated at small tables.

When all had assembled the guests were taken to the feast, a savory repast in which was included some venison, a prize won by Mr. Soverhill on his recent hunting trip.

A fine musical program was rendered following the bounteous repast. The first number was a violin selection by Wilma Soverhill, the youngest daughter of the host and hostess who is attending the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. She was accompanied by Miss Corn Soverhill, the oldest daughter, for four years a student at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. Miss Lalla, who is now studying in the school of Music in Evanston, rendered a piano selection, and was followed by two rendings given by Miss Freda Keys of the Commercial School of Oratory in the Northwestern university. Mr. J. S. Taylor then favored the guests with two pleasing numbers quite befitting the occasion. Miss Wilma gave another violin selection and followed it with Lohengrin's Wedding March. As this was repeated a number of the guests sang the well known parody, "Here Comes the Bride" to which the bride and groom were persuaded to march through the rooms.

The host and hostess were the recipients of many beautiful gifts as souvenirs of the occasion.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John P. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Porter, Mrs. Alex. Richardson, Evansville; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Porter, Cooksville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayre, the Misses Minnie and Nellie Hubbard, Fulton; Miss Lella Dow, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Barth Edgerton; Miss Freda Keys, Highland Center.

PEST IN NEW PLACE

Foot and Mouth Disease
Found at Philadelphia.

INFECTED HERDS ARE SLAIN

Prompt Measures Taken on Discovery of Aphthous Fever in the Pennsylvania City—Danger That Humans Will Contract Plague Is Slight.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The department of health and charities on Sunday discovered several cases of the foot and mouth disease, or aphthous fever, among cattle in this city—the first found here so far.

Inspectors learned that four cattle had been shipped from an infected district near Norristown, Montgomery county, to Jacob Haessler, a dairyman in the northern section of the city. When an investigation was made it was found that two cows were suffering from the fever. They were in a pen with 15 others, and as a matter of precaution the department killed the entire herd, confiscated a large quantity of milk and disinfecting the barn, pens and milk house and quarantined the place.

Other Animals Slaughtered.
A report that reached Dr. Leonard Pearson, the state veterinarian, in which it was stated that eight cattle had been shipped from an infected district to a slaughter house in the lower section of the city, caused the inspectors to also quarantine that place and order the destruction of eight cows which had been received and also 125 sheep which were in the yards with them. The animals were slaughtered Monday.

Humans Need Not Fear.
Dr. Herbert Fox, chief of the laboratory of the state department of health, who was sent to Danville last week to examine seven children who were supposed to have contracted the cattle disease, said Sunday at his home in this city that there need be little fear of the fever becoming epidemic among humans. Of the seven cases he examined, he said, but one was severe and that while it may have been a case of aphthous fever, there was nothing to prove conclusively that such was the case, while in the case of four others it was certain they were not suffering from the disease.

Dr. Fox said that he does not believe that the disease is transmissible between cattle and man by butter and milk. He thinks the danger lies in the careless handling of milk.

The building trades department represents about 400,000 men, and the first session was called to order by President James Kirby of Chicago, a leader in the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

H. L. Perham, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, called the railway employes together, and P. J. Flannery of Chicago, president of the International Freight Handlers, was the secretary.

ISLANDERS AND OTHERS
CALL ON JUDGE TAFTCubans and Filipinos Are Among the Sunday Visitors at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Va., Nov. 23.—More numerous, with more diversity as to purpose, were the callers received by President-elect Taft Sunday than on any day since he took up his residence here in the cozy bungalow among the chestnut trees.

Gen. Luke E. Wright, secretary of war, discussed the Philippine tariff and army matters connected with the Philippines, Gen. Demetrio Castillo, Judge Diaz Alon and Dr. Arturo Font, all of Havana, Cuba, extended congratulations to the president-elect, and urged upon him a visit to Cuba when the change of administration shall take place next January. No decision to visit Cuba has been reached by Mr. Taft.

Samuel K. Taylor and J. W. Wardrop of Pittsburgh presented an earnest appeal for the presence of Mr. Taft in that city to address the miners' convention either on December 2, 3 or 4. No definite answer was given.

The Philippine islands were represented by Benito Legatida, member of the Philippine commission; Pablo Ocampo, delegate to congress from the islands, and Fernando Calderon of Manila. Their call was one of congratulation and to talk over Philippine matters generally with Mr. Taft.

Representative Crumpacker of Indiana came from the tariff hearings before the ways and means committee in Washington to discuss legislative matters with Mr. Taft. Representative Levering of Massachusetts called to urge the exertion of the Taft influence that these tariff hearings be continued throughout the coming short session of congress.

Representative Burton of Ohio had another talk with the president-elect. John Barrett, director of the bureau of American republics, who was a dinner guest at the Taft cottage, came here to present what he said was a universal expression of interest on the part of the Central and South American republics to ascertain what was to be the plan of Judge Taft regarding the Roosevelt-root policies of developing closer friendly and commercial relations in that part of the world.

BELL CONCERNS ARE HIT.

Enjoined from Interfering with Independent in Middle West.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 23.—United States Judge Taylor granted an injunction against the American Telephone & Telegraph Company (Bell long distance system) and the Central Union Telephone Company (Bell company operating in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois), restraining them from interfering with the business of the independent companies operating in those and adjoining states.

The injunction was granted upon the application of Clarence Brown, general counsel, and James S. Bradley, Jr., president of the United States Telephone Company, which is the independent long distance telephone company operating in Ohio and adjoining states, in a suit brought by that company.

It is charged the Bell is pursuing the policy of buying independent exchanges, or selling Bell exchanges, where there are competing companies, and in some instances absorbing independent companies by merger and consolidation, or division of territory, so as to eliminate competition and establish a complete Bell control. This is said to be in violation not only of the Sherman anti-trust law, but also of the laws of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and other states in which the companies operate. This policy is said to be shown by the official reports of the officers and directors of the Bell company to their stockholders.

PRISON DELIVERY IS FOILED.

Tunnel Dug by Missouri Convicts Is Discovered.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 23.—Officers of the state penitentiary here Sunday discovered that a tunnel connecting the prison with the street had been almost completed, for the purpose of effecting a wholesale delivery of convicts. The tunnel lead from one of the sentinel towers and lacked but a foot of being finished.

The plan, it is understood, was for the prisoners, while in the dining room, to make a dash for the tunnel. Several hundred would thus possibly have escaped.

Gulana Natives Punished.

Lisbon, Nov. 23.—Advice received here from the governor of Portuguese Gulana state that the punitive expedition has inflicted a severe blow on the marauding tribesmen, killing 38 of them.

Woman Scientist Honored.

Aged Ex-Slave Burned to Death.

A LACK.

"Are the preparations all made for your husband's trial?" "Not quite," responded the prisoner's wife, "One of my dressmakers got the grip and disappointed me."

But the telegram went to his club and waited for him there, and meanwhile another telegram arrived at his lodgings signed by a trained nurse. And while Miss Erroll in the big, dimly lit house lay in a hollowed corner, a nurse waiting for him, while Nina and Austin, reading their evening papers, exchanged significant glances from time to time, the man she awaited sat in the living room in a little villa at Edgewater.

"How long has she been asleep?" asked Selwyn under his breath.

"An hour. She fretted a good deal because you had not come. This afternoon she said she wished to drive, and I had the phaeton brought around, but when she saw it she changed her mind. I was rather afraid of an outburst—she comes sometimes from less cause than that—so I did not urge her to go out. She played on the piano for a long while and sang some songs—those curious native songs she learned in Manila. It seemed to soothe her. She played with her little trifles quite contentedly for a time, but soon began fretting again and asking why you had not come. She had a bad hour later. She is quite exhausted now."

As he went out the nurse said: "If you wish to return to town, you may, I think. She will forget about you for two or three days, as usual. Shall I telegraph if she becomes restless?"

"Yes. What does the doctor say today?"
"The slim nurse looked at him under level brows."
"There is no change," she said.
"No hope," it was not even a question.

"No hope, Captain Selwyn."
He stood silent, tapping his leg with the stiff brim of his hat; then wearily, "Is there anything more I can do for her?"

"Nothing, sir."
"Thank you."
He turned away, bidding her good night in a low voice.

Chapter 24

THE winter promised to be a busy one for Selwyn. If at first he had had any dread of enforced idleness, that worry, at least, vanished before the first snow flow, for there came to him a secret communication from the governor.

A FAMOUS BEAUTY SPECIALIST

Given Advice To Women Lacking In Energy and Vitality.

Thousands of women are using toilet preparations unsuccessfully. Cosmetics fail to improve their thick, muddy complexion or to banish the pimples, blackheads and crow's-feet.

No wonder. Their trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They have bad blood, and bad blood in 90 per cent of the cases arises from inflammation of the mucous membrane. Their blood is filled with poison which is certain to break out in unsightly humors and blotches—white pimples, drawn faces, deep creased eyes, stooping shoulders and weak backs complete the story of suffering and despair.

Inflammation of the mucous membrane is curable. Bland cathartics and complexions will clear up if by magic, pain vanishes, eyes will brighten, faces become plump and shoulders erect. Perfect beauty goes only with perfect health, and perfect health for women can only be obtained through Rexall Mucuo-Tone, the one positive and permanent cure for catarrh.

Mme. Swift, 44 W. 26th St., New York City, the most famous beauty specialist in the world and an accepted authority on all relating thereto, has this to say of Mucuo-Tone:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rexall Mucuo-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tonic effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down, lacking in energy and vitality, will use Mucuo-Tone, they will praise it as I do for its strengthening and health-giving qualities."

Rexall Mucuo-Tone works through the blood, and acting directly upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflammation of which are the sole cause of catarrh—causes them to expel the poison and to resume their natural functions. Thus the membranes are cleansed—the blood purified and revitalized.

We know that Rexall Mucuo-Tone will cure every form of catarrh, no matter where located, of how long standing, or by what other names it is known. We guarantee to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the vigorous health and clear complexion it brings you.

Confidence and Success.

The man who has mastered his temper, disciplined his mind, schooled himself as to conform to the amenities and pleasures of life is on the broad road to success, for others will be attracted towards him as the flies to honey, he will begot confidence, and confidence is one of the corner stones which must be laid strong and deep before you can commence to build the edifice called success.

ment Selwyn, at long last, that he report three times a week, the proving grounds on Sandy Hook that experiments with chloride as a bursting charge might begin as soon as he was ready with his argon primer.

This meant work—hard, constant, patient work. But it did not mean money to help him support the heavy burdens he had assumed. If there were to be any returns, all that part of it lay in the future, and the future could not help him now.

Yet, unless still heavier burdens were laid upon him, he could hold out for the present. His bedroom cost him next to nothing; breakfast he cooked for himself, luncheon he dispensed with, and he dined at random—anywhere that appeared to promise seclusion, cheapness and immunity from anybody he had ever known.

As for his club, he hung on to them, knowing the importance of appearances in a town which is made up of them. But this expense was all he could carry, for the demands of the establishment at Edgewater were steadily increasing with the early coming of winter. He was sent for often, and a physician was now in practically continual attendance.

Also three times a week he boarded the Sandy Hook boat, returning always at night because he dared not remain at the reservation lest an impetuous telegram from Edgewater find him unable to respond.

So, when in November the first few hurrying snowflakes whirled in among the city's canyons of masonry and iron, Selwyn had already systematized his winter schedule, and when Nina opened her house, returning from Lenox with Elton to do so, she found that Selwyn had made his own arrangements for the winter and that, according to the programme, neither she nor anybody else was likely to see him oftener than one evening in a week.

To Boots she complained bitterly, having had visions of Selwyn and Gerald as permanent fixtures of family support during the season now imminent.

"I cannot understand," she said, "why Philip is acting this way. He need not work like that. There is no necessity, because he has a comfortable income, if he is determined to maintain a study apartment somewhere, of course I won't insist on his coming to us, as he ought to, but to abandon us in this manner makes me almost indignant. Besides, it's having anything but a salutary effect on Elton."

"What effect is it having on Elton?" inquired Boots curiously.

"Oh, I don't know," said Nina, coming perilously close to a point, "but I see symptoms—indeed, I do. Boots—symptoms of shirking the winter's routine. It's to be a gay season, too, and it's only her second. The idea of a child of that age informing me that she had enough of the purely social phases of this planet, Boots, I've given up all hopes of that brother of mine for her, but she could marry anybody if she chose—anybody—and she could twist the entire social circus into a court of her own and dominate everything. I don't know what to do with the girl. Philip never comes near us—once a week for an hour or two, which is nothing—and the child misses him. There, the matter is out! Elton misses him. What to do about it I don't know."

"Boots, I don't know," said Nina, coming perilously close to a point, "but I see symptoms—indeed, I do. Boots—symptoms of shirking the winter's routine. It's to be a gay season, too, and it's only her second. The idea of a child of that age informing me that she had enough of the purely social phases of this planet, Boots, I've given up all hopes of that brother of mine for her, but she could marry anybody if she chose—anybody—and she could twist the entire social circus into a court of her own and dominate everything. I don't know what to do with the girl. Philip never comes near us—once a week for an hour or two, which is nothing—and the child misses him. There, the matter is out! Elton misses him. What to do about it I don't know."

"Boots, dear," said Nina, who adored him, "tell me what to do. Tell me what has gone amiss between my brother and Elton. Something has. And whatever it is it began last autumn—that day when—you remember the incident?"

Boots nodded.

"Well, it seemed to upset everybody somehow. Philip left the next day. Do you remember? And Elton has never been quite the same. Of course I don't ascribe it to that unpleasant episode—over a young girl gets over a shock in a day. But the change—whatever it is—dated from that night. They, Philip and Elton, had been inseparable. It was good for them—for her too. And as for Philip, he looked about twenty-one; Boots, I—I had hoped—expected—and I was right! They were on the verge of it!"

"I think so, too," he said. "Hello! Somebody's coming, and I'm off!"

"I'm not at home; don't go!" said Nina, laying one hand on his arm to detain him as a card was brought up.

"Oh, it's only Rosamund! I did promise to go to the Craig's with her. Do you mind if she comes up?"

"Not if you don't," said Boots blandly. He could not endure Rosamund, and she detested him, and Nina, who was perfectly aware of this, had just enough of perversity in her to enjoy their meeting.

Rosamund came in breezily, sables powdered with tiny flecks of snow, cheeks like damask roses, eyes of turquoise.

"How do you do?" she nodded, greeting Boots as usual as she closed with Nina.

"Come, you see, but do you want to be jammed and mashed and trodden on at the Craig's? No? That's perfect! Neither do I. Where is the adorable Elton? Nobody sees her any more."

"She was at the Delmour-Carnes yesterday."

To be continued.

SEE PAPER FAMINE

MANUFACTURERS IN WISCONSIN ARE DISCOURAGED.

MANY SHEETS MAY QUIT

Only Abnormal Weather Conditions Can Stave Off Result, Say Men Who Claim to Know—News of the State.

Appleton, Nov. 23.—Unless altogether abnormal conditions prevail practically throughout the United States between now and the first of the new year, this country within six weeks will face a paper famine that will result in the curtailing in the size of metropolitan newspapers and the possible suspension of publication of hundreds of smaller inter-town newspapers throughout the country, according to the best judgment of the largest paper manufacturers of Wisconsin. Conditions in the paper industry have never before been so dubious as at present and the constantly depleting water power streams throughout the paper making district in both east and west are adding to the threatening aspect.

Several weeks ago manufacturers were declaring that the lack of rain would soon make wood pulp worth its weight in gold. Today they are claiming that even for its weight in gold the wood pulp in a few weeks more will not be obtainable. Wood pulp mills of the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys are at present running at less than half capacity, and several of them are shut down entirely because of a lack of water.

INLAID MARBLE PEDESTAL PLACED IN THE METROPOLITAN MUSEUM OF ART BY PURDON CLARKE.

Is this the real thing or not.

New York.—The Metropolitan Art museum has just received one of the greatest relics in America if it is authentic.

Purdon Clarke claims it is but no less an authority than Lord Curzon of Kedleston, former viceroy of India disputes this.

The dispute over the pedestal is causing a stir in art circles both here and in London. This is what Lord Curzon says:

"The famous Peacock throne of Delhi was carried away from India by Nahir Sah and was broken up on his death in Persia, more than 150 years ago. Not a vestige of it is, or ever has been, in England or America. The only surviving fragments are in the palace of the Shah at Teheran."

"The two pedestals, purchased by Mr. Purdon Clarke, one for the South Kensington museum in London and the other for the Metropolitan museum in New York, are short columns of luted work, differing entirely from the material and construction of the peacock throne. They are said to have been brought from Delhi after the mutiny of 1857, and to have formed a part of the platform of one of the many marble throne salutes that were in existence in the palace and were used by the later Mogul emperors."

Lord Curzon has made an exhaustive study of Persia and has written several volumes upon that country, and he says he speaks with authority.

In commenting upon Lord Curzon's contention that the pedestal in the museum here is not authentic, Director Purdon Clarke said:

"Lord Curzon is entirely wrong. He is suffering under a misapprehension in thinking that we have called this pedestal part of the throne. It is simply one of the supports of the platform on which the Peacock throne stood, and has an authenticated history. The same thing applies to the pedestal in the Kensington museum. This platform was only about eight feet square and was the only one in the room. The pedestal supported this platform and no other."

The Peacock throne, one of the famous thrones of history, was a great gold chair adorned with precious stones. Its beauty has probably never been rivaled. It was carried off from Delhi in 1789 to the capital of Persia. When the British captured and looted Delhi in the mutiny the throne, which had replaced the Peacock throne, was broken up and carried away. It is one of the pedestals to the original platform which Purdon Clarke claims is now in the museum here.

Director Clarke made this explanation as to the way he came into possession of the two pedestals:

"When the British troops came into Delhi this platform was destroyed, but Captain Tyler, the officer left in charge of the palace, saved two of the four pedestals and some years after his death his widow sold one to the South Kensington museum. That was about 15 years ago. This lady died in the present year when the Metropolitan museum purchased the remaining pedestal from her estate."

In the Winter

You do more cooking, and in greater variety, than you do in summer.

It is important, therefore, to properly equip your kitchen now, before the really cold weather has arrived.

With a gas range you are sure of being able to cook anything, and in any amount, with a certainty as to results that is impossible with a coal stove. This is because a gas range can be so perfectly regulated to just the necessary heat, and you are not dependent upon the quality of fuel, the condition of the weather, or the amount of attention you have given your fires.

A Gas Range and Water Heater

will make your winter kitchen clean, labor-saving and economical.

COFFEE MAKING

If I were to give a sermon on coffee I think I would start in by saying "Coffee is partly in buying and partly in making." I believe that poor coffee can as often be traced to poor cooking as to the coffee itself.

Coffee should not be cooked for any length of time. I am going to give you two recipes for making good coffee:

Put into your coffee pot a large tablespoon of coffee for each person; mix with a little cold water and slightly beaten egg. Then add a cup of boiling water for each tablespoonful of coffee. Boil just three minutes and then set back on a warm place for ten or fifteen minutes before serving.

Another good recipe is:

Allow a large tablespoon of coffee to each cup of cold water, put on stove and bring to a boiling point. Pour carefully and you will have a clear cup of delicious coffee. If convenient, put the coffee in the cold water and let it stand over night.

If you will try either of these recipes on a pound of Golden Blend, and if Golden Blend doesn't suit your taste exactly I'll blend specially for you in half pound lots and make you a present of the coffee until I have suited your taste, then you will have no more trouble with coffee.
